

THE TRINITY: BEFORE CREATION – JOHN 17:24

GETTING STARTED

The Trinity is one of the most confusing and difficult to understand doctrines in all of Christianity. Yet it is also one of the most foundational and necessary doctrines for understanding God's purpose in creation, the creation itself, our salvation and how we grow as Christians. Despite the difficulty in wrapping our heads around this doctrine, it is nonetheless essential to the Christian faith and has been professed since the church began. This is because it is an explanation of how God has revealed himself in the Bible. And therefore if we are going to know God more, we must start with who he is and that begins even before God created. While the Bible does not tell us everything we might want to know about what happened before God created, we are given a few key insights into the role of the Trinity and that begins with love. God is love and that love was not conditional on anything outside of God himself. Therefore, even before creation God was perfectly joyful, perfectly happy, perfectly loved and loving without anything else.
